Forecast for Thursday 27 Aug 2020

Weather: Cloud thickening during the morning, with outbreaks of rain possible throughout. These likely turning persistent and heavy at times during the late morning and afternoon. Winds remaining light.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 90% at first, soon falling to 40% during the morning with cloud descending to 500m.

Visibility: Some limited views of distant hills, and reducing to just a few kilometres in any rain. Spells of very poor visibility likely on the highest tops, when cloud descends upon them.
